

The Daily Courant.

Thursday, October 29. 1702.

London, October 28.

The Holland Mail of Friday last, which arriv'd to day, brings the following Advices.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated Nov. 2.

Nantes, October 24.

TWO days ago Captain Glumaw in the Amazone arriv'd here in 50 days from St. Domingo, and brings Advice that Rear Admiral Benbow has burnt 12 Merchant Ships on the Coast of that Island belonging to Bourdeaux, Rochel, and this Place; some of them had taken in a 4th part, others half their Lading.

From the Harlem Courant, dated Nov. 2.

Amsterdam, Nov. 1. They write from Bayone and Paris, that an Exprefs had brought the News thither of the arrival of the 3 Ships from Buenos Ayres in the Port of Vigo, richly laden; that these Ships had been at Brasil and came home in company with the Brasil Fleet, which (according to the Advices from Paris) with a Ship from Goa and another from Marnigan, is arriv'd in Portugal.

Cologne, Oct. 27. Major General Baron Hompes, who commands the Body of the Confederates encamp'd at Bruel, makes frequent Excursions, and has been with his Parties up to the very Gates of Bonn, and notwithstanding they fir'd hard from their Cannon, brought off several Prisoners, a great number of Cattle and some Forrage; the Garrison, tho' very strong, not daring to Sally out upon him. This Body of Troops covers all the Country thereabouts from the Ravages of the Enemy. Last night Baron Hompes was present in a Council of War with the Elector Palatine and the Bishop of Raab, and to day return'd to his Camp.

From the Paris Gazette, dated October 21.

Paris, Oct. 21. They write from Metz of the 12th, that the Sieur St. Laurent arriv'd there on the 10th with his Detachment from Alsatia, and that on the 11th he march'd towards Sar Louis to joyn the Marquess de Loemaria.

From the Paris Gazette, dated October 28.

Paris, Oct. 28. They write from Metz of the 17th, that the Marquess de Loemaria went from Sar Louis on the 14th, and arriv'd at Triers on the 16th; that he had taken a Castle, in which were 200 German Soldiers, who were made Prisoners; and that they were sending to him from Metz 50 Boats laden with Artillery and Ammunition of all sorts, but upon what design was not yet known.

From the Harlem Courant, dated Nov. 4.

Coblentz, Oct. 27. On the 25th Count Tallard march'd into Triers with part of his Troops, and took up his Quarters in the Cloyster of St. Maximin: The same day 36 Boats arriv'd there from Metz with Ammunition: Yesterday a Bridge of Boats was laid over the Moselle, for the rest of Count Tallard's Troops to pass over. To day the whole French Army to the number of 18000 Men, march'd towards Traerbach.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated Nov. 4.

St. Goar, Oct. 30. Expresses are sent from hence to Cassel, and to the Imperial Army, to give notice that the French seem to have a Design on Rynfelt; and the Elector of Triers has sent Advice of their Motions to Cassel and Berlin. Mean time the Enemy have put the Country about Creutznach under Contribution, and demand a great Sum of Money: 'Tis likewise apprehended that they will make an Attempt on Traerbach; and that they will make the Garrison of Montroyal strong enough to harrafs the Neighbouring Country. The French Intendant at Metz has put the Hondfrug under Contribution.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Nov. 2.

They write from Triers of the 29th, that the French had possess'd themselves of that City, which is a defenceless place; and had put a Garrison of 1700 Men into it. That they have some Troops at Eyselt within a few Leagues of Triers; and that they waited for a great Train of Artillery, with Ammunition and Instruments for breaking up Ground, to besiege Traerbach.

They write from Frankfort of the same date, That the Prince of Saxe Meininguen was marching towards Croon Weyffenbourg with a strong Detachment of Horse and Foot, to observe the French commanded by the Marquess of Loemaria.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated Nov. 4.

Frankfort, Oct. 29. Prince Lewis of Baden has ransom'd Count Coningslek, whom the French had carry'd Prisoner to Hunninghen. The Confederate Army lyes near Stauffen. The Hussars having begun to make Incursions into the Country of Bavaria, the Bavarian Troops are march'd towards the Danube to secure the Passes; and have put Garrisons into Lanningen, Dillingen, Gunsberg, and Hochstat. We hear that the French in the Hondfrug, and on the Moselle, have put the Country under Contribution, and that they have demanded 20000 Rixdollars of the Town of Bingen. We hear likewise that the French have sent a strong Detachment towards the Forrest Towns, and that the Elector of Bavaria has posted himself near Lanninghen on the Danube with 15 or 16000 Men; and that he has sent some Troops and Artillery from thence to Attack Nordlingen. 'Tis said likewise that he has rais'd Contributions in the Country of Wurtenburg.

From the French Camp at Fridlingen, October 26. The Marshal de Villars having Intelligence that the Army under Prince Lewis of Baden was joyn'd by all the Troops from the lower Alsatia, and was moving nearer our Army, withdrew yesterday at 6 a Clock, from Bintzen; the Foot have intrench'd themselves on the higher ground at Fridlingen, but the Horse are encamp'd on the lower ground over against the Fort of Hunninghen. He is levelling the Works that were thrown up by the Germans, and has order'd the Fort of Fridlingen to be undermin'd. The Regiment of Clare is commanded towards Newbourg, and the Brigade of Poitou; so that this Evening there will be 12 Battalions, with the Regiment of Dragoons of Givaudan, to defend that Place. P. S. Prince Lewis of Baden continues still at Strauffen.

From the Hague Gazette, dated Nov. 2.

They write from Frankfort of the 29th Ult. that Prince Lewis of Baden is joyn'd by the Generals
Stirum

Stirum and Thungen with 18000 Men of the Army that lay at Bischweiler; and that he was preparing to attack Newbourg, and oblige the Enemy to pass the Rhine.

From the Harlem Courant, dated Nov. 2.

Vienna, Oct. 21. 'Tis reported that General Solari, with 5000 Men, has taken Rychenhal belonging to the Elector of Bavaria.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated Nov. 4.

Amsterdam, Nov. 2. Letters from Dunkirk of the 28th Ult. advise, That Monsieur de Pointi, sail'd from thence with 9 Men of War, 7 Gallies, and 7 Fireships, having suffer'd by bad Weather, was return'd thither; but will put to Sea again, to prosecute his Design, which is kept secret.

From the Paris Gazette a la main, dated Oct. 30.

The Count de Noailles is dead at Strasburg of his Wounds.

The Armies in Italy continued in their former Camps on the 20th.

The Duke de Maine is return'd to Court from Flanders.

The Count de Tholouse is expected there very shortly, being order'd to lay up his Squadron at Toulon.

From the Army under the Earl of Marlborough, encamp'd before Liege, November 2.

On Tuesday morning the Garrison of the Chartreuse march'd out being upwards of 1500 Men, besides near 300 that are computed to have deserted from thence before the Capitulation; the Troops of Liege march'd out first and immediately quitted the French Service, marching off in a Body; the Collonel came to his Excellency the Earl of Marlborough, who was present to see them march out, and made his Excellency a Complement upon his leaving that Service: Of the Swiss there deserted likewise upward of 400 as soon as they came out of the Chartreuse, so that the Garrison will be very much lessen'd before they get to Antwerp, whither they are marching under the Conduct of a Squadron of Brigadier Wood's Regiment. To-morrow the Army begins their march towards the Winter-Quarters. We shall leave in Garrison here 12 Battalions of Foot and 14 Squadrons of Horse, and shall likewise leave a competent number of Troops in Maestricht, Stevenswaert, Ruremond and Venlo as we march by. We have already begun to repair the Breach and other Works of the Citadel, which will soon be put in a Posture of Defence. On Saturday the Army will separate, and his Excellency designs that day to embark on a Yatch at Maestricht and to go down the Maes in order to visit Stevenswaert, Ruremond and Venlo, in his way to the Hague, where his Excellency hopes to be on Tuesday next.

Falmouth, October 24. This day the 7 Provinces of Middleburg brought in a Privateer belonging to Dwipe, of 8 Guns and 2 Pattareroes; and likewise came in 3 other Capers of Middleburg with two French Merchant Ships from the West Indies.

Plymouth, October 25. Last night past along to the Westward four Men of War, and about 30 Merchant Ships with them outward bound. This day came in the Mary, the James, the Katherine, the Jane, the Experiment, the Content, and the Elephant Brigantine, all of London, for Guinney; and the Love Galley of London, for Lisbon.
